Microjustice aims to achieve legal protection of vulnerable groups through the following two interconnected programs:

A) Legal Protection Program

Microjustice provides access to Civil Legal Protection. We work to ensure legal certainty of individuals, as a guarantee of their rights and legitimate interests, avoiding court procedures, and thus, becoming a component and promoter of justice.

Our legal protection is preventive, it happens prior to conflict, and its costs are a fraction of the social and economic expenses generated when it is left out.

This protection is complementary to the governments already existing free legal aid for the poorest that generally focuses on criminal justice and conflict resolution in or outside the courts, but not so much on preventive and day-to-day justice.

How?

By being an intermediary between the advocates/attorneys and the people in need of affordable quality legal information and services

We use the existing legal services’ infrastructure of the country:
- Experienced lawyers help us set develop and supervise the online legal protection services
- Young lawyers get a chance to set up their own firm through a franchise-type package/guidance and clients’ referral

Online Legal Protection Services:
- In basic legal needs, all practical information on the procedures: steps, costs, duration, where, forms, templates
- Referral to attorney for additional legal service

B) Civil Justice Index

Microjustice produces a country analysis and Index on the state of Civil Justice. In 2016, within the 2030 frame agenda, governments agreed to adopt official indicators on Criminal Justice and to be held accountable for reporting progress in this particular domain. It is now time to do the same for civil Justice.
Providing SDG indicators on Civil Justice, is the only way to hold governments accountable for results.

- We measure progress on proposed indicators and suggest interventions and standards.
- We help re-direct investments on justice programs that generate results.
- We think both transnational and as well as national.

How? Three types of indicators have been developed related to a) the people b) state organisation and c) affordability and accessibility of legal service.

Related to each of this indicator groups the situation will be analysed through:

1) QUICK SCAN in consultation with experts in the country
2) We use existing, already available data and reports regarding to the key indicators.

The Index will be used as a lobbying instrument to draw attention on the civil justice issue from governments and donors.

Vision

The vision is that Governments, the target groups of vulnerable people, and young legal professionals will be using our model globally, and legal protection will be on the agenda of Governments and intergovernmental organisations.
